Press release

NEW CATALOG FOR WATER PUMPS AND WATER PUMP KITS

Metelli introduces the new catalog for water pumps and water pump distribution kits

Cologne, Italy, 23/07/2014 – The Metelli Group continues to grow and expand its product range with its increasingly comprehensive water pump line for the brand names Metelli, Graf and KWP.

The company's new catalog contains 95 new reference codes for water pumps, and 6 for water pump distribution kits, for a total of 865 water pumps and 71 water pump distribution kits. The Metelli distribution kit, which includes a water pump, a timing belt, and tensioners, allows the mechanic to easily identify the distribution components to be replaced. In fact, thanks to this kit, there is no need to find the three items separately; it is sufficient to identify only the kit code, avoiding possible errors during the inspection.

The latest catalog introduces new models that cover in the best way possible the continuously evolving car fleet (Metelli currently covers 91% of the existing car fleet, namely passenger cars and light commercial vehicles).

The Metelli company, international leading manufacturer of water pumps, continuously invests in technology and product development, and takes special care in supervising each phase of the production process, including the selection of raw materials, the reliability of equipment and manufacturing techniques, rigorous quality control during production, from fusion to assembly, and reliability testing with tools designed to assess the actual performance of the product. The aim is to ensure the constant efficiency and reliability of the water pump, which is essential for the overall preservation of the engine.

The quality and reliability of Metelli water pumps are the result of the company's considerable know-how, based on the ability to design and manufacture high-quality products. The choice of top-level materials, the collaboration with first-class manufacturers of components (bearings and mechanical seals), and the technologically innovative processes of production, are the foundation of Metelli's success. With its ongoing investments in research and development, the Metelli Group aims at achieving the best results possible and guaranteeing high performance standards of each water pump produced.

The new catalog further strengthens the competitiveness of the Metelli Group, which obtains new market shares and confirms its role as point of reference for professionals and workers in the automotive sector.

We'll be glad to provide further details.

Sincerely, Marketing Department Metelli S.p.A.